WOMAN FATALLY INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. Showalter Dies at Hospital—John Patterson Meets Tragic Death.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Staunton, Va., October 19.—On Tuesday Mrs. John W. Showalter, of this city, suffered injuries in a fall, from which she died later at the King's Daughters' Hospital, after an operation had been performed to try to save her life.

No one knows just how the accident occurred. Mrs. Showalter was an active member of the United Brethren Church, and the day of the accident she was helping the family of her pastor, Rev. George W. Glover, to move. They found her at the foot of the stairs, lying unconsciously, and later it was seen that she had fractured her skull. Whether she swooned and fell, striking her head, or mistook the opening to the cellar and tumbled down the stairs, is not known, as no one else happened to be in that part of the house at the time. She was discovered within a few minutes after the accident. She was the daughter of the late Elijah and Susan Lee, of Buena Vista, and was the wife of John W. Showalter, a well-known citizen of Staunton, who was a member of the Common Council, and was fifty-five years of age.

An interesting personage in the State for many years a resident of Staunton, she left here for Kingsburg, Miss., where he will take charge of the National Cemetery as superintendent, in the person of John W. Bodley. Mr. Bodley was formerly a wealthy man, who moved the Bodley Wagon Works from Winchester, Va., his native town, to Staunton in the late boom days in 1901, and ran it here successfully for ten or twelve years, when he was induced to move the plant to Memphis, the move costing him his fortune. Mr. Bodley was a red-hot prohibitionist, and spent thousands of dollars to advance the cause in Virginia, running for the State Senate against Hon. Edward Echols a number of years ago, and coming near being elected.

In the warmest campaign ever conducted in Augusta county in the memory of the present day inhabitants, Mr. Bodley was a veteran of the Union Army, who has the good will of all Confederates and of the whole community in fact, as personally he is highly esteemed here, and all the leading citizens of Staunton support him in his efforts to secure a position under the government.

Joseph P. Ast, first lieutenant of the Staunton Rifles, has been made adjutant of the Third Regiment of Virginia Infantry, and in his place as first lieutenant, John D. White, a young member of the Staunton bar, has been elected by the company. Mr. White is a graduate of the law school of the University of Virginia, son of the late Judge E. White, one of the leading lawyers of this part of the State.

John Patterson, son of John L. Patterson, of Harrison, Augusta county, met a tragic death on last Saturday night, when he fell from a window at Staunton, Ky. He went to his office on the fourth floor of a building to use the telephone, which was near the window, and it is supposed he stumbled and fell out the window. He carried the receiver of the telephone with him, and it was found in his hand when he was picked up unconscious, dying four hours later. In the fall he struck a negro who was passing by, and so great was the force with which he struck the negro that it dislocated the negro's shoulder.

The body reached Staunton yesterday on its way to Harrison for burial. The young man was a graduate of the Augusta Military Academy, at Fort Defiance, and of William and Mary College. He had gone to Paducah in September to form a partnership with a college friend to practice law.

JUDGE CUMMINGS NAMED.

Will Oppose Senator A. T. Lincoln, Republican, in Approaching Election. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., October 19.—Legislative candidates in Washington and Smyth counties and Bristol are now quite active. Chief interest centres in the contest for Senator in the First Virginia District. Senator A. T. Lincoln, Republican, has been elected twice in succession, but the Democrats are making a hard effort to defeat him. The Democrats nominated Judge David Campbell Cummings, claiming that his popularity in Washington county will be sufficient to turn the tide and win for the Democrats. Local Democrats express the belief that Mr. Lincoln cannot hope to overcome the majority that Bristol and Washington county will give Mr. Cummings by any means.

Mr. Lincoln, in Washington county and Bristol Rev. E. C. Buck and John Roberts, Democrats, are opposing A. Gray Gilmer and W. R. Kestner, Republicans, for the House of Delegates, and this also promises to be a warm contest.

Posse Searches Woods for Murderous Wooer, but Fails to Find Him.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Baltimore, Md., October 19.—Josephine Ameling, a pretty fifteen-year-old girl, who formerly lived in Essex county, Virginia, refused to wed Gustave Kruger, a machinist, and the rejected suitor, after declaring that she should not wed another, fired three bullets into the body of the young woman. Hovering between life and death, the girl was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where some hope is entertained for her recovery.

Kruger made his escape, and at a late hour to-night no trace of him has been found. The shooting occurred near Brager Station, on an electric line a few miles from Baltimore, this evening. The injured woman was attacked on a road not far from her home, while she was carrying dinner to her brother. Kruger, after several visits to the home of the Amelings, became enamored of Josephine, and he was an ardent wooer. Miss Ameling, however, cared little for Kruger. To-day Kruger went to Brager Station, knowing his Miss Ameling usually carried dinner to her brother. He did not have to wait long, for shortly before noon Miss Ameling came along humming a tune. She was suddenly confronted by Kruger, who jumped from a clump of bushes, but the young woman did not lose her nerve. Kruger, it is said, demanded that Miss Ameling elope with him, and she refused to do so.

The young woman laughed at the idea and told Kruger that she did not love him. Angered by the girl's refusal, Kruger drew a pistol and fired point-blank at his victim. Four shots were fired and three of the bullets hit their human mark. The young woman fell to the roadside, while her assailant made his escape. Despite the fact that three bullets struck her in the face and head, Miss Ameling retained consciousness and told the authorities the identity of her assailant.

A posse searched the woods for Kruger, but he was not found. One of the bullets penetrated Miss Ameling's left temple.
